Woman Dies from Exposure to Storm

Parminder Nagra

It is believed that Elaine Calfry slipped and fell on Friday around 4:30pm in the Gulch. She lay in the parking lot of Station Inn, and we know that as she cried for help, many local residents heard her. From 4:30pm to 10:30pm, Metro Police recorded over two dozen noise complaints made by the residents of the high rent Icon and Velocity apartment complexes. One caller noted that she had thrown "several wine glasses out the [expletive] window to [shut that] cow up."

For six hours, Mrs. Calfry lay in the freezing rain, her cries slowly diminishing over time. After 10:30pm, there were no witnesses who reported her shouting for help.

At 1:38am, a homeless man, James Regent, found the body of Elaine Calfry, her spine broken by the slip on ice, and her mouth open to the sky, plugged with a baseball sized chunk of ice that had gathered as freezing rain filled her lungs.

Attempts to remove her body, frozen into the ground, were unsuccessful until a forklift was obtained at 7:15am and her remains were removed in three large pieces, along with large divots of frozen dirt and asphalt.

At this time, police have no intention of prosecuting any witnesses who ignored her cries for help.

Girl Hospitalized after Dog Bite

Harry Lennix

Three weeks ago, sixteen year old Rene Olive was bit by a medium sized dog while her family was stopped at a rest stop on I-24 between Clarksville and Nashville. She was brought to Acorn Medical care for emergency treatment.

During a followup visit prompted by her parent's concern about altered behavior, X-rays revealed a mass of parasitic worms in her body. The worms, which have yet to be identified, are not thought to be a type native to North America.

"As travel has increased, so has the spread of new vectors and parasites. It is not uncommon to occasionally find something new, where fifty years ago, it was much more likely you could go through an entire career and never see anything but local diseases," said Dr. Bradley York, an attending physician at Nashville General Hospital, where Ms. Olive is currently receiving care.

Motive sought in Strange Shooting

Megan Boone

Late Friday night, a victim of an apparently motiveless shooting sought refuge at a south Nashville hotel.

"He staggered in at around 11:30 last night. I thought he was drunk at first," Neil, the night clerk at the Executive Inn on Harding Place, tells us. "But, then he just slumped over and I saw the blood all over his back."

The unnamed victim was immediately taken to Vanderbilt University Medical center. The injury was thankfully not life threatening. Medical center employees were unable to comment further on the current status or identity of the victim.

Police have not been able to determine where the shooting happened, who the shooter is, or why the victim was shot. The victim remains under protective guard while the case remains under investigation.

Emo is back. Or at least really boring people are trying to get attention by just moping around. (Composure+Empathy, Wits+Investigation, Manipulation+ Socialize)

Hayseeds continues to cause protests. It looks like the local conspiracy minded bible thumpers have added it to their regular set of "things we are outraged about", like D&D and Obamacare. (Presence+Socialize, Intelligence+Computer)

Have you seen the new e-cig shops opening up in Antioch? They are kind of creepy, but they offer the best deals – better even than the internet!

Dude, did you see the guy with the eyepatch hanging out at the Dunkin Donuts? He was asking people a bunch of questions like he was looking for vampires. What a creepy fucker.

Harpy rumors are in effect: Grill them for rumors!

You may be able to add a rumor as a downtime.

The new Ordo has something wrong with him.

Have you heard about the hunters in town? They are following specific kindred, I hear.

The Lancea have some experience with this demon.

You know, when the Prince is overthrown, there will be new positions available for everybody. It'll be a happy time for some...

Antioch sucks. Literally. I've heard there's a pack of diablerists controlling it.

The Prince is losing his spedoin-kle, and his land holdings.

The Crone know a dirty secret about the a local kindred. One that will end in final death... unless they use it to their advantage, of course.

FEEDING RESISTANCE: 2

Do a hunting draw, subtract the above from your pool. Success: start full. Failure: start down four or twice your blood potency, whichever is larger. You may run a feeding scene to "top off".

If you are unaligned, add three to the above.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mailing lists are being actively used!

New: Read "Previously in Requiem"!

The Lost and Found is trying to be emptied. Please help Sarah find homes for all that has been lost.

Half the covenant mailing lists are hopping. Nobody is using the main mailing list (but you can! I swear!).

If you're interested in helping write the "Previously in Requiem", let Evan know via email.

Game on the 21st of December is still slated to go on. If you can't make it, let me know so if we're going to be missing most players, we can either cancel or have a nice tight game for those that can't.
