Burnt Office Found In River

Carolyn Martin

Early Friday morning the burnt corpse of Officer Richard Beauregard was found in the Cumberland River. Blue and his dog Joe were the unfortunate souls to find the body.

“It was terrible.” said Blue, a Nashville native and witness to the finding of the body. “How somebody could do this to an officer of the law? I mean we was just walking along the river looking for interesting things when Joe here goes all cattywampus over something in the water.”

Blue describes his terrifying ordeal of wading into the waist deep cold water on that hot summer spring night and feeling something “rough, but squishy. Like wet cardboard.”

Skeptical at first, Blue reports he was hesitant to identify the body. It was far more burnt and water-logged than any body he'd found before. But a search of his clothes presented identification, both his badge and wallet, that confirmed Beauregard's identity.

Flames Consume Christ Church Cathedral

A connection to the recent arson cases is suspected in the recent fire that consumed the Christ Church Cathedral. The blaze began around 2:30am Saturday morning, and inspectors have verified no casualties have been found. Links to the recent arson cases in North Nashville are being looked for, but no suspects have been identified as of yet.

Miracle of the 8th Avenue Reservoir

Rory Hoffman

Multiple witnesses reported a glowing light above the Nashville Reservoir on 8th Avenue. It vanished shortly after 2:00am Saturday morning, and witnesses reported that the water in the area had turned a bright blue color, almost iridescent.

“It had to have been a helicopter,” one witness told reporters. “You know, the ones dumping chemicals in our water to make us complacent?”

Sonya Glenanne, field reporter, investigated the area, capturing evidence of the iridescence. The state of the water then changed about an hour later, but believers are adamant that this is a miracle, a visitation of an angel to Nashville in light of the recent horrors that have wracked the city.

Fire Safety Series to Start Saturday

Tommy Wells

Given the recent rash of fires and fire related injuries, a joint task force between the police and fire departments plan to present a series of seminars on fire safety and prevention.

“We are here to protect and serve,” explains Lucas Patterson with a jovial smile and a sparkle in his eye, “we don’t want Nashville to burn to the ground just yet. This joint task force is the start of a new relationship between the police and fire department.”

“We could not be more excited about this new project,” continues Franklin Oliver of the TVA, hosting the joint press conference last week. “The safety of Nashville is our highest priority, and sponsoring this task force is just the first step.”

People in the Gulch are continuing to have visions. Some hipsters are moving out, while others are moving in to get on the scene early.

Hayseeds continues to cause protests. It looks like the local conspiracy minded bible thumpers have added it to their regular set of "things we are outraged about", like D&D and Obamacare. (Presence+Socialize, Intelligence+Computer)

Vanderbilt is investigating a case of a young child being cured of an osteosarcoma – some kind of bone cancer. The family just converted to Catholicism and consider it a miracle. The doctors don't know what to think, because it was too advanced to treat.

What's up with the Hermitage Hotel? Not only did they build a bunch of stuff there, it's closed down. I thought that Gideon was grooming it as Elysium? There were a bunch of ghouls in there...

Pauline and Owen have clearly had sex at this point. They were seen walking hand in hand, looking in each other's eyes like lovers.

Before Owen and Lazarus sat in their fancy chairs, they both helped open up the southern tunnels beneath Elysium - tunnels that were said to be forbidden. Shouldn't they be held accountable if the beasts beneath Elysium is unleashed?

There's something off about this joint press conference. Though it hasn't been publicly announced, rumors have it that they want to host it in The Frist Center. Why so close to home for us?

FEEDING RESISTANCE- 5

Do a hunting draw, subtract the above from your pool. Success: start full. Failure: start down four or twice your blood potency, whichever is larger. You may run a feeding scene to "top off".

If you are unaligned, add three to the above.
